Message from the University Management

We are very delighted to welcome you to the premier accredited Open University in Ghana; established in 2014 as an Open Supported Learning (OSL) institution offering Certificates, Diplomas, Degrees and Postgraduate programs (synchronous and asynchronous).

Laweh is a people's University, providing an opportunity for everyone to study for a university level education qualification anytime, anywhere. You have made the best choice to be part of the Laweh fraternity that focus on developing the head, heart and hands. In Laweh, we believe in the quality of teaching and learning, research and making impact with our presence. Our students are therefore encouraged and developed to use the skills and knowledge gained from the variety of programmes offered to affect their spheres of contact. Once again, you would experience our unique educational philosophy, quality of programme structure, professional faculty, distinctive Management staff, state of the art edifices, repository of E-learning materials and interactive learning platforms. It is also important to note that as students, you will find our course-room more active, knowledgeable, and engaging community of other students and first class world faculty members.

Students are cordially invited to share their experiences while taken advantage from the perspectives of their peers. With the ongoing partnership that exists between Laweh Open University College and Open University of Tanzania, our students tell us that their interactions with world-class and experience faculty and with their peers from around the world are not only paving the way for them to becoming academically inclined but also preparing them to become entrepreneurial inspires to contribute effectively to their society.

Profile of Management

FOUNDATION OF THE LAWEH OPEN UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, ACCRA

The foundation of the LAWEH Open University College is based on the need to provide higher-level open education that is responsive to societal needs and prepares graduates to creatively and critically apply knowledge and skills for economic and social enhancement. From our foundation as a place of useful and applied learning, we consider as critical, our responsibility to facilitate learning, creative, critical, reflective and big picture thinking as well as strategic research that shall be of benefit to society. Our educational philosophy is to produce middle to strategic level leaders who shall be responsible for their own learning and personal transformation through our educational offerings.

Background and Educational Philosophy

The need to develop high-performance human capital for the 21st century is not simply evident but paramount for emerging economies like Africa. Individual contribution to the growth and advancement of any society and to mankind in general is critical and cannot be over stated. Transforming individuals to meet the changing and emerging needs of societies shall also create value for impact. It appears that education in Africa is not yielding the expected impact. Many have cited massification, low gross enrolment ratios and globalization among others as factors contributing to the issue of higher education not delivering the value expected.

Dr Tom P Abeles, president of Sagacity Inc. in Minneapolis, United States and editor of On the Horizon, a foresight journal with a major focus on the future of tertiary education globally wrote a reflection on the 1st African Higher Education Summit on “Revitalising Higher Education for Africa’s Future”, published by the World University News on 19th April, 2015. Dr. Abeles opine that if the goals of the draft declaration and action plan of the African Higher Education Summit are to be achieved, there should be less focus on building traditional universities and more on expanding high-speed broadband internet and electronic devices that will enable global cutting-edge knowledge to be delivered to students cost-effectively. It has been shown that there is no significant difference in knowledge acquisition whether in the classroom or over the Internet”. This is exactly what LAWEH is trying to do.

According to Abeles’ article, education at all levels generally, needs to shift to competency-based measures rather than credit based on time in class or on task. This requires certain strategic resources and skills, which can be leveraged through collaboration. Abeles further noted, “Collaboration, globally and across institutions, is key whether it involves researching new knowledge or making knowledge accessible for education. Educational facilities are costly and need to be leveraged.

Available data suggests that many graduates remain unemployed (with some estimates suggesting as many as 50%), as a result of the weak link between tertiary institutions and the labour market¹. However, concerns that responding to the demand for increasing access to higher education shall simply increase the saturation of unemployed graduates are offset by the argument that no country develops with lower level knowledge. Additionally, there is confidence that as Ghana continues to ascend the HDI country ranking, as the second highest and most stable of the West African countries with one of the fastest growing economies in the world, a proliferation of well qualified graduates in targeted fields shall rapidly attract foreign business and investment.

Key data indicate the need for action. At present according to 2012 enrolment data, 284,000 of the 18-24-age cohort in Ghana are enrolled in tertiary education. This corresponds to a Gross Enrolment Ratio GER of 12.1%, which is somewhat higher than the average across Sub-Saharan Africa but very low compared to global average. This may be compared with the GERs of the UK (62%), China (27%) and Malaysia (36%). Concerns about access for disadvantaged students from rural areas, low income, and persons with a disability, etc. have also been raised. There is aspiration and drive within key stakeholders in Ghanaian tertiary education to increase student enrolment and have recommended that Ghana must act as a matter of urgency to:

- boost student enrolment from 284,000 to at least 600,000 within the next 6 years²,
- increase institutional efficiency
- and transform the student experience.

LAWEH, recognizes that due to cost and economic constraints it has not been possible and may not be possible in consideration of the amount of time required for government to fund this initiative. Between 2006 and 2010, state funding per student increased by over 100%, but only to a figure that remains less than 40 per cent of the amount recommended by National Council for Tertiary Education (NCTE, 2012). This situation is not seen as sustainable while the sector continues to expand, unless an alternative model can provide students with more affordable routes to quality tertiary qualifications (Open Universities Concept Note, 2014). LAWEH therefore believes that a private intervention or Private–Public Partnership may be necessary, and this is what LAWEH seeks to provide. LAWEH also recognizes that in an era of globalization and internationalization of higher education, it would not be prudent to pursue this agenda as a standalone. International partners shall be required to support this vision.

LAWEH shall create the environment needed for contemporary e-learning and deliver programmes that match the best international standards. High quality distance learning programmes that are geared towards meeting employability needs shall enhance access across the nation.

Traditional classroom-based college and university programs do not adequately develop the skill-sets required to be effective managers and leaders in today’s complex world. The attributes that an individual needs to have to function effectively in the 21st century include:

1. An entrepreneurial and leadership perspective.
2. High-level cognitive skills including creative thinking, reflective thinking, problem solving, decision making, application, analysis and synthesis.
3. Personal attributes that include effective communication skills – both verbal and non-verbal, writing, working effectively with groups made up of diverse members, and, most importantly, working effectively with evolving technologies.

Recognizing the need, and demand, for alternative instructional methods in Ghana and Africa, particularly by those already working who wish to acquire higher qualifications, LAWEH wishes to create a platform for this group to have access to continuing education. In short, LAWEH is about increasing educational access and choice as well as global diversity without compromising on quality. The key philosophy is to emphasize learning over teaching as opposed to the case of traditional higher education and also to allow participants to take charge of the learning process.

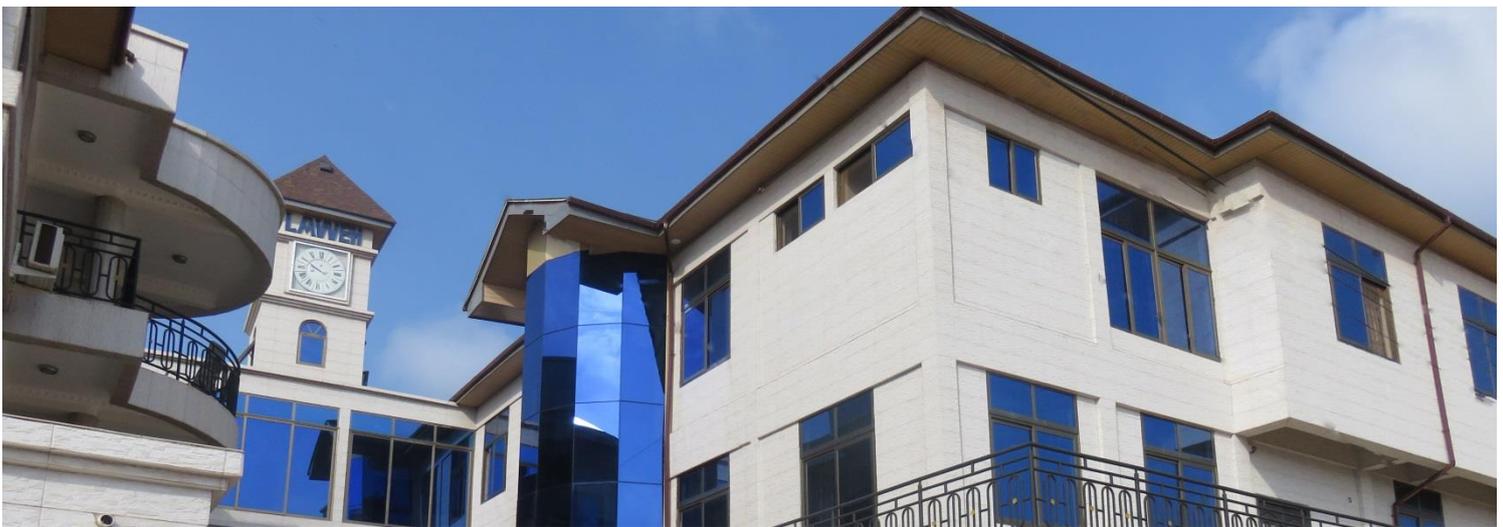

The aim is to provide a blended mechanism of distributed learning, in which the learner and instructor are physically separated during the major part of the learning process but meet at some point in time both virtually and physically to take advantage of the social aspects of learning. Communications technology shall therefore be the primary vehicle for delivering instruction and facilitating communication between the learner and the facilitator at LAWEH. LAWEH’s instructional content is designed in a collaborative work context by professionals, practitioners, academics and instructional design specialist to create a learning environment suitable for participating effectively in a global economy in the 21st century.

LAWEH shall use technology to mediate learning, by deploying:

- A blended learning approach
- Learning Management Systems in a synchronized and a-synchronized
- Provide online resources and interactions, printed workbooks, radio and the web.

With this background, the university offers experientially based, flexible and cost-effective tertiary model that incorporates productive work experiences and leadership development for all students to provide true value.

BACKGROUND TO LAWEH OPEN UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Laweh Open University College is the first accredited Open University College in Ghana established in 2014 as an Open Supported Learning institution offering Certificates, Diplomas, Degrees and Postgraduate programmes. Laweh is a people's university, providing an opportunity for everyone to study for a University level education qualification anytime, anywhere.

In Laweh, a blend of different modalities are deployed to provide enhanced teaching and learning environment, which include the use of modern technological techniques such as: the use of Moodle Learning Management System, real time Video Conferencing, telecasting, podcasting among others. At the moment, Laweh University runs programmes through the following colleges: The College of Arts and Science and College of Business. More colleges and institutes would be established in accordance with the mandate and statutes of the University. Laweh Open University College has its Headquarters situated at Addogonno off the Spintex Road, Accra- Ghana.

This Handbook combines general and specific regulations governing the programmes under the various Colleges for the Undergraduate and Postgraduate Programmes.

VISION

To be a world class open education provider founded on the principle of useful and applied learning

MISSION

To provide a world-class learner centered open higher education that shall produce effective and ethical leaders who shall create and deliver value to meet the needs of societies, anytime, anywhere. We believe our first responsibility is to our students, employers, communities and then all other stakeholders. In meeting their needs, everything we do exemplify Leadership, Innovation, Flexibility and Entrepreneurship (LIFE) and for impact. Our aim is to provide education without barriers where international faculty and students talents shall be nurtured and turned into abilities for global impact.

Leadership, Innovation, Flexibility, and Entrepreneurship(LIFE) is the driving force of Laweh existences and it is described in details as follows:

- Leadership to us means thinking and acting for success and the necessary constructive changes that enhance quality of life
- Innovation to us means solution oriented learning for creating, harnessing and turning ideas into solutions for constructive change.
- Flexibility to us means education, anytime, anywhere for value and success in an ethical way. The idea is to enable students retain some control over the time, place, pace and path of the students.

- Entrepreneurship means applying knowledge to deliver value.

Students Regulation

Preamble

Laweh Open University College seeks to provide a world class learner centered open higher education that shall produce effective and ethical leaders who shall create and deliver value to meet the needs of societies, anytime, anywhere, by leveraging Leadership, Innovation, Flexibility, and Entrepreneurship (LIFE). The University provides an international community of faculty and students where talents shall be nurtured and turned into abilities for global impact. To achieve this, Laweh Open University College provides educational experiences that enhance students' intellectual abilities and career development by establishing ethical code of conduct to promote the mission of the University and to encourage professionalism within the student community. Students therefore have responsibilities as members of the University community and are expected to uphold and abide by the regulations as embodied in the University shared values of Leadership, Innovation, Flexibility and Entrepreneurship (LIFE). These to force values that underpinned the regulation worth guiding students' personal conduct and decisions in the University shall include respect, leadership, innovation, flexibility and entrepreneurship.

- A. Respect: To Laweh, it means students are entreated to have self-respect and respect for others regardless of age, religion, race, ethnicity, color, nationality, ancestry, immigration status, gender, marital status and disability. Personal integrity is also expected of students in all spheres of their University life. Laweh students are required to exemplify this virtue in all their decisions and interactions.
- B. Leadership: To Laweh, it means students thinking and acting for success and the necessary constructive changes that enhance their quality of life within and outside the University.
- C. Innovation: To Laweh, it means students focusing on solution-oriented learning for creating, harnessing and turning ideas into solutions for constructive change in their life and community.
- D. Flexibility: To Laweh, it means education, anytime, anywhere for value and success in an ethical way. The idea is to enable students retain some control over the time, place, pace and path.
- E. Entrepreneurship: To Laweh, it means students applying their acquired knowledge to deliver value in their spheres of endeavor.

The code of conduct is not intended to be a punitive measure for students but to promote harmony, professionalism and peaceful co-existence as members of the University community. By virtue of your enrolment as students of the University, you are accountable for your actions and inactions and agree to comply with these regulations. It is equally important to note that the regulations that govern your student ship in the University is in consonance with your local, state or national laws. The University may notify appropriate authorities of any breach for the necessary action to be taken.

MSc. Development Economics

Program Philosophy

In contemporary times, the need to develop high-performing human capital for the 21st century is not simply evident but paramount for emerging economies like Africa. The University therefore recognizes the need to contribute towards the rapid development of the Ghanaian economy for enhanced productivity, efficiency and effectiveness. The MSc Development Economics programme is intended to equip students who aspire to work in public sector organizations, private sector firms and international organizations with contemporary econometric tools. The advanced and technically rigorous nature of the programme also serves as an excellent foundation for PhD programmes and other research-focused roles. The programme is to provide current skills, knowledge, and understanding of development economics in nation building and growth. It offers a rich and diverse foundation for managing in a global economy. Each course within the program challenges students to critically assess traditional theories of economics and explores the new dimensions created by globalization and economic challenges.

Academic Activities

Concerns of students which are academic in nature should be directed to the Pro-Vice Chancellor and Coordinator of Programmes via emails: provc@laweh.edu.gh or coordinator@laweh.edu.gh. Issues which are considered academic in nature shall comprise activities such as registration, examination, teaching and learning, grading, graduation and certification. These processes must be strictly adhered to for academic issues to be handled or they shall be deemed ignored.

Non-Academic Activities

Non-academic issues shall be directed to the Registrar. The officer plays students advisory, coaching and counselling roles and is responsible for students welfare as well as members of the University community. Non-academic issues shall include all concerns not related to those mentioned as academic in nature. All matters will be treated private to the extent that is practical and consistent with Laweh Open University's mandate under the law.

Anti- Discrimination policy

Laweh Open University College does not discriminate on the basis of age, religion, race, ethnicity, color, nationality, gender, marital status and disability. As members of Laweh academic community, students have shared responsibility with Management and faculty for creating and maintaining congenial environment and atmosphere conducive for teaching and learning, research and personal growth and development. By virtue of students' enrolment with Laweh Open University College, it is mandatory for all students to comply with these regulations and procedures. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with these rules and regulations. Ignorance of these provisions shall not be deemed excusable.

Laweh Open University College standards are applicable and not limited to all behavior, actions, events, and functions related to being online students either on or off the University campus. These shall also include activities related to the following:

- Students' on sponsorship programmes in the name of the University
- Students on placements, internship and attachments in the name of the University
- Actions that causes fear and panic among University community
- Causing injuries or ill-health and safety problems to the University community
- Destruction of University community properties.

Whiles being students of the university, any action or inaction that violates the national, regional or city laws may also constitute violations of the code. In such instances, the University shall take disciplinary action under the code irrespective of the decision of criminal or civil proceedings under the law. Also, disciplinary actions shall be meted to online students' whose activities have the potential of adversely tarnishing the image or interest of the University. Such action shall be independent of the civil or criminal proceedings. Examples of Laweh University's interests that may be adversely affected include and are not limited to:

1. Charge or Conviction of a criminal offense as defined by the laws of the state and regional
2. Situation where the student presents a danger or threat to the health or safety of him/herself, to the extent that it has an impact on others.
3. Situation that expressively impinges upon the rights, property or achievements of self, to the extent that it has an impact on others.

The University reserves the right to administer the code and proceed with the actions even if the students failed to be in good standing as a student of the University. The University shall encourage a culture of reporting breach of the code of conduct. In this regard, the University shall be committed to responding to reports and notice and to initiate procedures to investigate the issue without a formal allegation made by a victim. Students are encouraged to file issues of allegations of misconduct as soon as practicable but not later than 2 months after the alleged misconduct is known to have occurred or purported to have occurred. Issues of sexual harassment and related sexual based offences shall have no time bound; however, reporting must be prompt to facilitate management's action.

School Admissions Policy

Admissions Policy

The term Open University refers to a university with an open-door academic policy, i.e. no stringent entry requirements like the traditional universities. This, fundamental open admissions policy makes university study accessible to all. The Laweh Admissions policy recognizes this philosophy of making university education open to all, irrespective of age, qualification or experience, except the demonstration of intellectual ability. The concept seeks to provide opportunities for workers, including mothers, those raising a family or those who do not want to give up their social life, those who otherwise will not have access to University education or those that qualify to enter straight, but want to have flexibility in their studies to do so, provided they have an intellectual ability to go through University education.

DEFERMENT

A student may need to defer his/her programme for a variety of reasons. It is important to bring the need for deferment to the attention of LAWEH in a timely fashion, and certainly within the period when deferment is allowed. Students who fail to notify the academic departments of their intention of deferring a programme, and fill the deferment forms before the deadline for deferment as stipulated in the academic calendar, shall forfeit the fee for the trimester or programme commencement date. There is a fee for deferring a course or programme.

MATRICULATION

All students are required to matriculate into their respective programmes. Students residing in Ghana are required to attend the matriculation programme in Accra. All other students may matriculate online, taking advantage of LAWEH's blended delivery systems. All students must sign the matriculation oath that will be provided before beginning their programmes.

Course Selection Freedom

Laweh Open University College is an Open University and students are encouraged to take courses that they can successfully complete in each academic semester or year. Students shall have the right to register three courses minimum per semester based on their availability for participation on online tuitions. However, the maximum courses to do in a semester are left to the discretion of students. In their quest to select the number of courses to do in any semester, the University shall encourage students to consider their workload, family demands and social activities. As a result of these provisions, students reserve the right to determine the number of years they want to use to finish the entire programme for graduation.

For the convenience, orientation and registration materials are provided in an interactive format by accessing the University we blink www.laweh.edu.gh. By logging in with Laweh user name and password, you will be presented within formation regarding Laweh's student services, policies and procedures to help you get started at Laweh. Students are required to provide current address, telephone, e-mail and contact information for the University records.

Opportunity shall be provided for students to update this information each time they register at the beginning of the semester. Changes that occur red after registration shall be communicated to the Pro-Vice-Chancellor through the email provc@laweh.edu.gh to effect the necessary updates.

Assessment Structure

Structure of Assessments

At LAWEH, our emphasis is not on mere certification but on learning. LAWEH's assessments of learning are performance-based assessment rather than content-based. Assessment is therefore not only used for mere grading and certification, rather it has linked with learning and skill development of the students. LAWEH recognizes that most open universities have a two-tier system of assessment: formative and summative, though some like the Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU), New Delhi, India do operate a three –tier system (Chaudhary and Dey, 2013).

By the three tier educational model of LAWEH, LAWEH therefore has a three –tier system of assessment namely Skills assessment, Summative and Formative assessments, which shall employ a variety of techniques and methods for assessments. These include self-assessment exercises, continuous evaluation through assignments (tutor-marked and computer-marked), and end of Semester examinations.

- Formative (Assignments): 20%
- Summative (End of semester examination): 50%
- Skills component shall constitute 30% of the total weighing.

Formative assessment comprises assignments, the personal contact programme and workshop related activities such as practicals, special project topics presentations, community participation, field experience, school-based activities, online posts and forum discussions hands on activities, seminars, group discussion, etc.

Summative assessment comprises end of course assessments and dissertation/thesis evaluation and independent inbound and outbound test (www.ignou.ac.in).

The skill-based assessment shall base on demonstration of entrepreneurial and leadership skills through end-of programme project presentation, reflecting papers, communication skills, particularly the use of 21st century marketing skills, problem solving, and quality of solutions which shall be present to a panel of stakeholders including industry practitioners. This shall be a requirement in partial fulfilment of graduation.

The minimum standards for quantity and quality of Skills, Formative and Summative assessment shall be the same as or higher than corresponding conventional standards in LAWEH. It is assumed that existing and emergent technologies for e-assessment will be utilized to minimize the load on staff and to enable staff to focus on high quality individual feedback to staged conventional assessment.

Assessment Regulations:

The University uses the Continuous Assessment (CA) System. It is recognized that, this system enables lecturers to effectively monitor students' performance throughout the period of study.

The system will involve:

- (i) Games simulation/assignment/test/quizzes = 20%
- (ii) Practice base Mid-semester examinations = 30%
- (ii) Term paper/ End-of-semester examinations = 50%

Summative assessment comprises end of course assessments and dissertation/thesis evaluation and independent inbound and outbound test (www.ignou.ac.in).

The skill based assessment shall base on demonstration of entrepreneurial and leadership skills through end-of programme project presentation, reflecting papers, communication skills, particularly the use of 21st century marketing skills, problem solving, and quality of solutions which shall be present to a panel of stakeholders including industry practitioners. This shall be a requirement in partial fulfilment of graduation.

University's Grading Policy

The assignment of a letter grade for a course is an indication of the student's overall success in achieving the learning outcomes for the course. The course letter grade may be viewed as a summary statement of the student's achievement in individual assessments (assignments & activities). These assessments are intended to identify both strengths and areas in need of improvement for students. The University uses a standard grading scale for both graduate and undergraduate courses.

Grading Scale

Performances in a course shall be graded using the 4.00 scale grading system as follows:

LETTER GRADE	NUMERICAL MARK (%)	INTERPRETATION	GRADE POINT (GP)
A	80 -100	Excellent	4.00
A-	75-79	Very Good	3.75
B+	70-74	Good	3.50
B	65-69	Fairly Good	3.00
B-	60-64	Credit	2.50
C+	55-59	Average	2.00
C	50-54	Pass	1.50
D	45-49	Marginal Fail	1.00
F	00-44	Fail	0.00
IC	--	Incomplete	--
X	--	Absent	--
DF	--	Deferred	--
NG	--	Withdrawn	--
WH	--	Withheld	--

Definition of Grades

- Pass grades from the highest to the lowest grade shall be A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C and
- Fail grades shall be D and F.

- Grade IC shall be awarded to students who are unable to complete a course in one particular semester due to student's inability to complete the course or the course continues into the next semester.
- Grade WH shall be awarded for withheld results when students owe fees and/or books from the school library. Withheld results shall only be released upon the full settlement of fees and/or return of library books.
- No Grade (NG) shall be awarded to students withdrawn due to absence from lectures, tutorials or other academic activities for a cumulative period of 21 days within any one semester, or Examination malpractice as may be decided by the Academic Board.

Grading System for Masters Programmes

Grading Scale

Performances in a course shall be graded using the 4.00 scale grading system as follows:

LETTER GRADE	NUMERICAL MARK (%)	INTERPRETATION	GRADE POINT (GP)
A	80 -100	Excellent	4.00
A-	75-79	Very Good	3.75
B+	70-74	Good	3.50
B	65-69	Fairly Good	3.00
B-	60-64	Credit	2.50
C+	55-59	Average	2.00
C	50-54	Pass	1.50
D	45-49	Marginal Fail	1.00
F	00-44	Fail	0.00
I	--	Incomplete	--
X	--	Absent	--
DF	--	Deferred	--
NG	--	Withdrawn	--
WH	--	Withheld	--

14.2 Definition of Grades

- Pass grades from the highest to the lowest grade shall be A, A-, B⁺, B, B⁻, C⁺ and C.
- Fail grades shall be D and F. However, D may be accepted as a pass for fulfilling a prerequisite for another course.

Grade Point (GP)

The Grade Point earned by a student in a particular course completed shall be computed as the product of the number of Credits for the Course and the Grade Point equivalent of the grade obtained in that course.

Grade Point Average (GPA)

The Grade Point Average is calculated by dividing the sum of the Grade Points obtained by the total number of credits of courses registered.

Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA)

The Cumulative Grade Point Average is calculated by dividing the total number of Grade Points obtained at a given time by the total number of Credits of all Courses for which the student has registered up to that time.

Final Cumulative Grade Point Average (FCGPA)

The FCGPA is the CGPA for all Courses for which the student has registered up to the end of his or her academic programme.

The FGPA shall be weighted as follows:

Level	Weight

Students' performance feedbacks shall be made available to them through their students' portal and students support unit shall provide academic counsel where necessary to weak performing students. Find attached Students handbook which shall be given to every student upon admission. The assessment criteria and the mode of delivery as well as the calendar period is clearly stated in the handbook

Eligibility for Assessments

Only candidates who have been cleared for having paid all University fees, and who have met the conditions for registration will be eligible for sitting for annual assessments. A candidate shall be admitted to examinations for subjects in which the lecturers and Dean of the college are satisfied that the candidate has fully completed all the requisite requirements of the course and are in good standing in the books of the university. A candidate whose work progress is considered unsatisfactory may be required by Management, on the recommendation of the appropriate authority or Board, to repeat any part of the course before admission to an examination. Only in cases of total failure and on the recommendation of the Faculty Board, a student may be asked to withdraw from the University.

Assessment Methods

The courses shall use wide variety of assessments based on the content of the courses. Traditional exams are used in some courses where the content dictates the measurement of specific content (i.e., math courses, accounting courses, 100- and 200-level courses). In the higher level courses, application, analysis, and development/creation of materials are measured through projects, case studies, presentations, debates, negotiations, presentations, and simulations. The higher level of measurement using blooms taxonomy is deployed for this purpose. The pass mark for undergraduate shall be a D or better and for graduate courses, it shall be C or better. Candidate who fails to attain the pass mark, after sitting for the annual will be allowed to re-sit the examination after paying the required examination fee. A candidate, who fails in a re-sit examination, will be required to repeat the course. Repeating the course means repeating the exercises and assignments for the course. A candidate who fails to appear for the test or examination, for any certified reason, must inform by writing officially to the Pro-Vice Chancellor through provc@gmail.edu.gh prior to the commencement of the examinations period. Students requesting to appear for special examinations without prior authorization by the Pro-Vice Chancellor will be required to pay examination fees for the session.

Classification of Degrees

BACHELOR'S DEGREE AWARDED

The Bachelor's Degree shall be awarded with First Class Honours, Second Class Honours (Upper Division), Second Class Honours (Lower Division), Third Class or a Pass. Note Third and pass grades are not honours degrees.

A student who does not meet the standard for the Honours degree may be awarded a Pass Degree, provided his or her overall FGPA is not below 1.50.

Dissertation

A pass in dissertation include the following

- a. A pass in final simulation
- b. A pass in the defense of the proposal
- b. A pass in the dissertation write-up
- c. A pass in the dissertation defense

To qualify for an award a student should have passed in all three of the above.

The student in addition must have discharged all obligations owed the Institute and the Faculty/Department as may be prescribed in respect of the Degree.

CLASSIFICATION OF DEGREES

The classification of the Undergraduate Degrees is based on the value of the Final Grade Point Average (FGPA). All courses taken, except AUDITED or EXEMPTED, are included in the calculation of the FGPA.

Degrees shall be classified as follows

Award	FGPA
First Class (Honours)	3.60 -4.00
Second Class Upper Division (Honours)	3.25 -3.59
Second Class Lower Division (Honours)	2.50 -3.24
Third Class (Honours)	2.00 -2.49
Pass	1.50 -1.99
Fail Below	Less than 1.50

CLASSIFICATION OF CERTIFICATE AND DIPLOMA

Certificate and Diploma Programmes shall be classified as Distinction, Credit or Pass as indicated below.

CGPA of 3.5- 4.0	-	Distinction
CGPA of 2.5- 3.49	-	Credit
CGPA of 1.0- 2.49	-	Pass
CGPA of less than 1.0-		Fail

PROGRESSION FROM SEMESTER TO SEMESTER

- To progress from semester to semester, a student is required to maintain a cumulative GPA of 1.50.
- A student may be allowed to trail not more than two failed courses for three semesters after which he/she is expected to pass the courses or withdraw. In any given semester a student cannot trail more than two courses.
- Courses designated as pre-requisites to more advanced courses must be passed before the latter courses are offered. Since students shall not be permitted to trail pre-requisite courses, they shall have to break their programme of study in order to pass the failed course(s).
- A student, after successful completion of a semester can, upon written application giving reasons and after approval has been granted, leave the university and continue in the appropriate semester.

CANCELLATION OF AWARDS

A LAWEH Bachelor's Degree conferred on a student may be cancelled at any time even with retrospective effect, if it becomes known that the student gained admission with false qualifications, or impersonated for someone else, or had been guilty of examination malpractice, or has otherwise conducted him or herself in a manner that is judged incompatible with the status of a holder of LAWEH Bachelor's Degree.

University's Philosophy on Feedback

Feedback is the return of evaluative information to the originating student or group of students about the result of a process, activity, or assignment. We believe that student learning is improved by providing effective feedback that is timely, specific, constructive, motivational, relevant, and ongoing. Feedback must be provided using a variety of methods and aligned with predefined outcomes and parameters.

Feedback Methods

The University uses a wide range of feedback methods depending on the course assignment. For traditional examinations, feedback is provided by the instructor on the areas in which improvement is needed by the class to understand the material. This is provided either in a live session (face-to-face or through the web conferencing system) or through the Discuss tool (bulletin board discussion). For other types of assignments, rubrics generated by the development team so there is inter-rater reliability among instructors. The rubric lists the criteria that are to be assessed and how to distinguish between different grade levels. See Appendix C for an example of a rubric. Also, feedback is provided directly within the assignment pointing out strengths and areas for improvements which are then uploaded to the assignment dropbox where students can access the feedback. For adaptive learning software tools, feedback is provided immediately as students work through scenarios and/or problems. For lengthy assignments that spread out over several weeks, drafts are submitted to the instructor at various points in the course so that students can receive feedback in order to improve the final product that is submitted for assessment purposes.

Dates of Assessment

Annual, Continuous Assessment, Special examinations of the University shall be held at a time determined by the management of the university, and will be announced at the beginning of the academic year or in the course of the running the programme for a semester.

Classrooms, Computer Laboratory/ICT Facilities Available

Lecture Halls

The University is an Open University that provides learning in a borderless system. As a result, physical class rooms are not the conduit for transmission of learning between faculty and students. Students are given a go-laweh tablet which is the virtual class room for teaching and learning purposes. The tablet provide the opportunity for students to participate in live streaming of lectures and submission of assignment and course workloads. Notwithstanding, there is conference facilities available on campus which are shall be used for the compulsory face- face session intermittently during the period of study. The University leverage on it moodle platform for all lectures. Hence all course materials and structure of study is designed in the platform for eLearning purposes.

Computer Laboratory/ICT Facilities

The University has a well-equipped computer laboratory which is opened to both students and staff. In addition, students, are given personal go-laweh tablet which serve as the virtual classroom for them to participates in lectures and academic exercises. Also, the University has developed students learning Management system and Management information system call moodle and i-laweh respectively. The systems enable students and staff to perform these functions:

- Attending virtual class room study
- Submission of Assignments
- Platform for class discussions
- Grading of Students
- Registration of Students
- Processing of Examination Results
- Transcript Generation
- Student Billing System
- Students virtual class room

Accommodation

The University is an Open University and students are required not to be physically present on campus, however, the University has ultra-modern hall of residence available for students who may want to mimic the traditional university system.

Supply of Utilities

Water: Water supply to the University is currently above average and reliable. This is complimented by underground water reservoir and borehole facility with reverse osmosis for purifying.

Internet Connectivity: All offices and the University buildings have internet connectivity, Vodafone and Surf line are our network providers.

Health

The University is located very close to the Lekma polyclinic which is equipped with professional doctors and modern health facilities. The University has MOU with the hospital to provide health services to our staff and students during recruitments and admission. Notwithstanding, the University is an Open University and student physical presence would be limited. In addition, other health facilities such as the 37 Military Hospital is within reach.
